

CO-OPERATIVE SELLING
IN ALLENDALE.

Community. Selling of Hogs. and Eggs Profitable.

Another illustration of the way in which South Carolina farmers are learning to profit by co-operation comes from Allendale County. County Agent Robertson in a recent report calls attention to the successful outcome of his latest shipment of hogs and the successful operation of an egg circle.

In regard to his shipment of hogs, he says that the day on which the hogs were loaded for shipment a local buyer was present and made a bid, which was not accepted. The car was shipped and netted the farmers who made the shipment 1 and 1-2 cents per pound over the price offered by the local buyer. The County agent concludes his report with this significant remark: "In the future I do not expect to have any trouble in getting livestock marketed co-operatively." A dozen cars have been shipped co-operatively from Allendale County this spring, a fine record for a former all-cotton county.

In connection with the home demonstration agent of Allendale County Mr. Robertson reports also the organization of an egg circle at Barton. The first shipment was on May 5, when there were ninety dozen eggs brought in for shipment. These were candled by the agents and only a few were found unmarketable. The eggs netted 27 cents per dozen, though at that time eggs were selling in Allendale, the county seat, at 12 and 1-2 cents per dozen. The organization and operation of this egg circle is one of the good results of the Barton Community Club, and County Agent Robertson makes this significant statement in closing his report: "Our community clubs will soon demonstrate to the people that they are worth while."

A CHESTER BOY'S SUCCESS AND INFLUENCE.

Clemson College—A good example of the evolution of a club boy into a leader of his community and of the influence of such a young man upon parents and others is found in the case of G. T. Ligon, a Chester County club boy, who is graduating from hog membership into a pure bred hog breeder and general leader in his community.

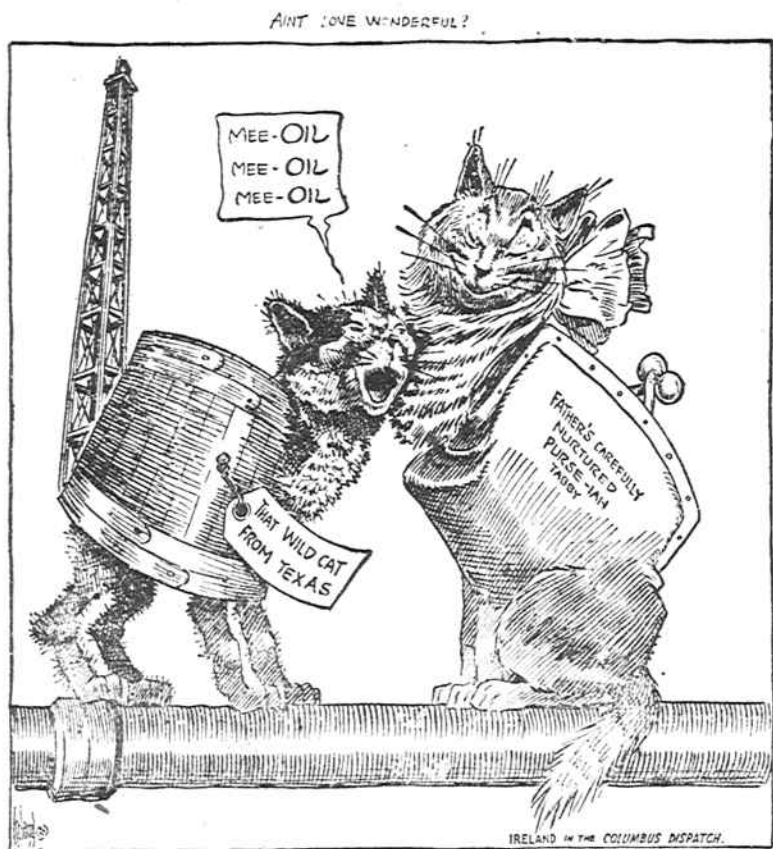

County Agent Sanders reports that young Ligon, though just nineteen years old, is now starting out with three brood sows to raise pure bred pigs to help develop the pure bred swine industry in his county and section. Last year Ligon was in the Chester County pig and corn clubs, and was successful in both. His corn was first in the county club work in 1920 and won second place in the single ear class at the big Pee Dee Corn Show at Florence. He was beaten in this show only by the man from whom he secured his seed corn. He used all of his 1820 prize money in both phases of the club work from prizes won at the County Fair and at the State Fair, as well as at the Pee Dee Corn Show, to buy enough wire to fence in about ten acres which he is now in process of making into a hog pasture. Sanders reports that this enthusiastic young graduate of club work says that he regrets that he is no longer young enough to stay in club work, but declares his intention to be heard from in the adult classes in the local and state fairs.

Another interesting phase of the value of the work of successful club members is seen in the county agents report as to the influence of this young man upon his father in the matter of pure bred hogs. Mr. Ligon, Sr., had about 18 hogs and pigs "the size of a large possum" when the first club pig came on the farm through the county agent's influence. These had practically the same treatment as the club pig received, but the club pig gained more than a pound a day, while the father's scrub gained hardly any. To make a long story short, says the county agent, there are now no scrub pigs on the farm, but instead three high bred Virginia sows, and father, mother and son lose no opportunity to tell what club work did for them.

NEED MORE OFFICERS
FOR ARMY OF SAVERS
NOW BEING RECRUITEDBOYS AND GIRLS INVITED TO BECOME MEMBERS OF ORGAN-IZATION OF YOUNG
CAPITALISTS

Generals and colonels of fourteen years, majors, captains and lieutenants of ten or twelve and sergeants and privates even younger are now the rule in Uncle Sam's Army of Savers, which is being recruited among the school boys and girls of this district. Plans for this army were recently completed and were announced through the medium of an art poster sent broadcast to schools and post offices. Within the first five days after the distribution of this poster, eleven young "officers" had received their "commissions" in the army. Nearly 5,000 have now enlisted, every part of the district being represented.

The boys and girls earn their promotions in accordance with regulations explained in the poster announcing the organization of Uncle Sam's Army of Savers. Their insignia is conferred, and a formal "commission" is sent by the Savings Division of the United States Treasury Department in this district.

Regulations for promotion in Uncle Sam's Army of Savers state that every purchaser of one Thrift Stamp in 1921 is entitled to a private's button. The purchase of four Thrift Stamps entitles him to a Sergeant's button. The purchase of one War Savings Stamp, issue of 1921, entitles him to a Lieutenant's button; three War Savings Stamps to a Captain's button; five to a Major's button, and ten to a Colonel's button. The purchaser of twenty of the 1921 War Savings Stamps gains the award of a General's button, emblazoned with a star to indicate the rank.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

If you invest in one $25 Treasury Certificate every month for ten years (average price $20.87½) you will at the end of that time have received back from the Treasury Department $1,500 in cash, and you will have $1,500 more maturity value, payable $300 a year for five years longer.

MORE THAN BILLION HAS BEEN PUT INTO
SAVINGS SECURITIESREDEMPTIONS ARE GROWING
SMALLER AS WISE INVESTORS
RECEIVE INTEREST ON THEIR MONEY

More than one thousand million dollars have been invested in Thrift and War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates by wise and thrifty persons in this country, according to an official report recently compiled. Of this amount, over $730,000,000 is now outstanding, and investments are steadily increasing. The banner year, of course, was 1918, when there was a strong patriotic appeal. Total sales for 1918 were $971,913,000. During 1919, when the sales campaign was based on national thrift rather than patriotism, $165,306,000 was brought into the Treasury, and in 1920 the total was $43,592,000. Redemptions to date include $378,254,000 of the 1918 series, $33,441,000 of the 1919 series, $8,080,000 of the 1920 issues and about $135,000 of the 1921 series.

Officials of the savings division point out that by far the greater proportion of the redemptions are of the 1918 series, which indicates that the more recent issues are being purchased by individuals who plan to hold them to maturity.

The certificates pay 4 per cent. interest, compounded quarterly, which is equivalent to approximately 4½ per cent. if held for the full five years. Those who present the certificates for redemption prior to the maturity date receive about 3 per cent. interest.

Save the "small change" usually spent; it will mean a "big change" in your pocket.

STOCKS AND BONDS
ARE NOW USED FOR
WRAPPING BUNDLESBUT WORTHLESS RUSSIAN NOTES
ARE JUST AS VALUABLE AS MANY FAKE SCHEMES
OFFERED HERE

Destitute peasants at Mitau, Latvia, are carrying home food wrapped in thousand-ruble securities, but they are not a bit elated over the fact. When an American Red Cross unit reached Mitau recently and opened up headquarters in a vacant bank building, bales of formerly valuable securities were found heaped in a corner. They were beautifully engraved on fine bond paper, but their value was absolutely nothing. As paper was scarce, the crisp bonds and stocks were utilized as wrapping paper by the Red Cross workers.

If the safe deposit boxes and bureau drawers and trunk trays of America were emptied, thousands of bales of securities equally valueless would be uncovered. Millions have been invested by Americans within the last year in stocks which are worth no more than the securities of the defunct government of Imperial Russia. Some investors are continuing to buy beautifully engraved certificates good for nothing but wrapping paper at the price of profitable investments.

Warnings by the hundreds have been issued against fake stock salesmen and fraudulent promoters, but it is often difficult to determine between a fake investment and one which has a chance of success and profit, and victims continue to lose their hard earned savings. One sure method of protection is to invest in the securities backed and protected by the government of the United States. Treasury Savings Securities (War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates) will return a sure profit, are proof against loss or depreciation, and may be had at your post office. The stability of the United States, not of Russia, guarantees this and the promise to pay of this nation, never yet broken, is a better surety than the promise of any "get rich quick" salesman or promoter.

HARDING URGES
THRIFT AS AN
IMPERATIVE DUTYSAYS RIGID AND SANE ECONOMY
MUST BE PRACTICED BY NA-TION TO RESTORE NOR-MAL CONDITIONS

The note struck by President Harding in his address relative to the necessity of putting "our public household in order," is one fraught with meaning to millions of individuals in this country who have made little effort to put their private households in good shape. The urge of thrift and economy is strongest with too many only when a financial pinch comes. Yet this pinch will seldom be felt if, as President Harding says, we practice "a rigid and yet sane economy—attended by individual prudence and thrift which are so essential to this trying hour and reassuring for the future."

Thrift is commendable at all times. Individual financial emergencies are continually arising and to set one's household in order by planning a program of "rigid yet sane economy," attended by individual prudence and thrift is to ward off the serious consequences of such emergencies. Among the millions of American wage-earners those who were thrifty have been least concerned about high prices or business depression.

In getting a good work started, there is no time like the present. And in getting the good work of thrift and economy started, there is nothing like getting interested in the Savings Movement of the United States Treasury Department. The home of every American citizen who needs to have his household put in order will be happier in all that that work can imply when the message of thrift and economy of the Savings Movement reaches it.

Thrift takes you up the ladder; extravagance drags you down.
